G. O. P. Electoral Vote Is Now 404; Victory Decisive

Republicans Gain Half of Seats in Tennessee--Democratic Electoral Vote Is Cut to 127--Both House and Senate Carried by Victorious Party

New York, Nov. 5.—With the election of President-Elect Harding, the electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531 and the complexion of the new senate set as 59 republicans and 37 democrats. Republican leaders awaited belated returns on 8 states in six states to fix the complexion of the republican house majority.

Results of the night undelayed counts in the lower house republicans had 286 members, 137 democrats and 208 of other parties. A plurality of 149—enough to elect any party in the house. The senate, on which it was in the 52nd congressional year, the democrats had a 1 of 149.

Big Jollification For Monday Night

County Republicans to Celebrate Victory With Red Fire Parade—Complete Arrangements at Meeting This Evening

All the pent up enthusiasm of the Republicans of this section will be let loose in one big superboastful whoop on Monday evening of next week, at the monster jollification being planned by Elyria and Lorain county residents and Mayor A. R. Jones has not only consented to throw away the keys of the city for that evening, but is even going to act on the committee appointed by the Lorain County Executive Committee to stage the affair.

Assisting Mr. Jones in these plans will be Alfred Bates, Ford Loomis and G. F. Horn, but the committee is expecting that every man, woman and child will fall in line and help, regardless of politics. Everybody will be expected to do a maximum amount of shouting and every noise making device known to the patent office and many not known, will be brought out for the event.

There will be bands, floats, red fire and parades, to say nothing of the speaking by prominent orators several of the successful candidates for state and national offices having been invited to participate. There will be a meeting of the committee this evening when the plans will be completed and the complete program announced tomorrow.

Two more letters repudiate circular well known Unionists make their position clear in letters to The Chronicle-Telegram.

The following are two more letters making their names to the infamous dodger that was circulated by the Electric Light Company in the morning hours of Tuesday last, repudiating, or apologizing for any part that their names played in that transaction.

One at least of the signers, if not two, are employed by the Electric Light Company, and this explains, at least in part, if not more, of the signatures to that document.

Very evidently the dodger was written by someone in the Electric Light Company, or representing it, and signatures solicited by Mr. Irvin of the Electric Company, and then the dodgers circulated by the Electric Company.

Their letters are self-explanatory and follow: Elyria, Ohio, November 4, 1920. Editor Chronicle-Telegram, Dear Sir:

I wish to inform you and the people of Elyria I had nothing to do with the circular distributed by employees of Electric Company. As I told the Employee that I had not been to any meeting of the Union for some time therefore I knew of no resolutions being adopted or rejected by the Unions and my name has been used without my consent to gain their ends.

C. H. SCHULTZ, 575 Turner St. Elyria, Ohio, November 4, 1920. Editor Chronicle-Telegram, Dear Sir:

I am a union man and expect to always be, but regret that I signed my name so hastily to the so-called dodger, as I was ignorant of the fact that the C. L. U. was authorized by our locals to do as they did. I don't want Mr. Burke to think that I was against him because I that I was against Republican ticket and also against the electric rates.

OVERLAND'S BIG TOLEDO PLANT CLOSES DOWN

Shut Down Starts Tomorrow Afternoon and Will be Indefinite—Order Effects Elyria Factory

TOLEDO, Nov. 5.—Announcement was made here today that the Willys-Overland automobile plant normally employing around 15,000 workers, will be shut down tomorrow for inventory and will remain closed for an indefinite period.

TOLEDO, Nov. 5.—Vice President C. A. Earl made the announcement following a conference held during the morning. Notices of the closing were posted in all departments. No information was available as to the approximate length of the shutdown.

It is understood in industrial circles that approximately 3,000 were at work when announcement of the closing came. When labor trouble developed at the plant early in the summer of 1919, more than 10,000 workers were employed.

Today's developments at the Overland followed a series of recent substantial reductions in the working force, the reduction having been the unhappy result of the slump in the automobile market.

The Overland is the city's largest industry.

Cleveland Yeggman Identified as Man Who Shot Barnes

Night Watchman Ned Worthington of Elyria Foundry Picks Out Photograph of Noted Criminal As Man Who Asked For Lodging On Night of Slaying, July 27

The police believe they have solved the identity of the man who murdered Dave Barnes, New York Central detective, on the night of July 27th. Barnes was shot to death while walking east on the railroad tracks, while near the east side underpass. He had arrested two men and was on his way back to the yards looking for other rascals when he met his death.

The identity of the party who fired the shot was never learned, but yesterday two N. Y. C. detectives came to the police station and exhibited a picture of Jiggs Loestner, bank robber and murderer, now in a Cleveland hospital under guard, having been badly wounded in the Bedford bank robbery.

Chief Stankard took the detectives to the Elyria Foundry where two men had asked for shelter the night Barnes was killed. Night Watchman Ned Worthington was shown two photographs of different men and at once pointed out the one of Loestner as being one of the men who had stopped at the foundry. He had no hesitation in identifying the man and said he would know him among a thousand.

Of course the identification does not definitely fix the finger upon Loestner, as no one witnessed the crime, but his presence in the vicinity of the railroad yards that night, and the dangerous character of the man, who never hesitated at murder if it suited his ends is evidence in the minds of the police that he was at least implicated in the affair. His companion was a short man and has so far failed to be identified.

NARROW ESCAPE AS AUTOS COLLIDE

Last evening at 6:45 several people had a narrow escape from injury when an automobile accident took place at the corner of Broad street and Washington avenue.

A service truck belonging to the Lorain County Electric Co. was going east when a large coupe bearing the license number 471,399 came up Washington avenue and turned in front of the Electric Co. car. The driver of the latter attempted to turn his car to avoid a collision, and the wheels skidded on the street car track. The two cars crashed as the two cars hit, and the service car was thrown against another auto standing on the curb, shoving it almost into the front of the Wilkins-Hurst show window.

The service car lost a wheel, and pedestrians on sidewalk scattered for safety. The driver of the coupe was thrown back, took a look and went away without giving his name. Fortunately no one was injured.

INVESTIGATE IF PALMER CAN SUPPRESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5.—Federal Judge Anderson declared in United States district court today that the investigation to be made by him next Monday of Attorney General Palmer's connection with the soft coal conspiracy cases would be for the purpose of ascertaining "whether the attorney general can make a agreement to suppress a portion of the government's evidence."

The telegram declared Perry and his associates "heroes in the cause of freedom and victims of an election massacre prepared by the Klu Klux Klan for every colored citizen who insisted on casting his ballot."

The demand on the attorney general was based on the claim that the federal government should defend a citizen's right to vote.

JUDY CLYDE WILCOX
ADDRESSES FRANKLIN
SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

One of the largest and most interesting crowds ever in attendance at the meetings of the Franklin Parent-Teachers' Association heard the splendid talk by Judge Clyde Wilcox, at the meeting held this week in the school house.

Mr. Wilcox, after congratulating the ladies on the results of their first election privileges, told how gratifying it was to the men who have always espoused the cause of suffrage for women to see how gloriously the women had met the occasion. Observations and hearsay agree that the ladies, in Ohio, at least, women voting for the first time did the act with neatness and dispatch and success surpassing anything ever accredited to mere man. He said that he felt convinced that every body was glad to have them now, including many who had long objected to the inevitable act of simple justice and he knew that the American men were mighty proud of the American women in the winning of same America's glorious victory.

Mr. Wilcox, after his short talk of appreciation of the work of the women for the country, told of his work in this country, in his office of probate judge, and said that there were more children brought to his observation from the cities than there were brought from the rural communities.

An informal program was presented following the address by Mr. Wilcox and included a paper by George Marsh and several beautiful piano selections played by Mrs. A. F. Terry, on the piano placed in the school for the approval of the association, which may be in a position in the near future to purchase an instrument.

The president of the association, Mrs. Stanley G. Shaw, presided and in the business session, a bake sale was arranged for November the sixteenth and a bazaar for some time in December.

Wonderful Dancing In Friday's Offering

"Speed Mania" to a startling degree is approached in some of the extraordinary dancing scenes shown in Victor Herbert's "My Golden Girl" which will be seen here at the Rialto on Friday night. To an amazing proficiency dancing in these days has reached all the way to the gyrations of the human body, legs, arms and feet. Dancing with a kind of droll, yet humorous wizardry, that almost conceals the complete mastery of the art, has increased in tempo and speed until a veritable "speed mania" prevails among the dancers of today. And like all big New York successes, "My Golden Girl" is no exception to the rule and they too, carry an abundance of dancing ability; this, of course, is only incidental to the success of Victor Herbert's most beautiful of all musical plays coming here next Friday.

All else is contained that goes to make for a big musical show; a likable whimsy story, with more under" Theodore Roberts, one of the world's character actors, has the part of loveable Prof. Phenyl, sunny-hearted, incompetent friend to everyone save himself. Harold Goodwin is excellent as the college boy lover, while Milton Sills, Sylvia Ashton, J. M. Dumont, Starke Paterson, Jane Keckley and Flora Hollister are well-cast in other roles of the famous old play. Paul Powell directed.

American

"Dollars and the Woman" Alice Joyce has the play of the hour in "Dollars and the Woman," which will be shown at the American theater today and tomorrow. With the high cost of living rampant and incomes unreasonably inflated, the theme of this extraordinary play by Albert Payson Terhune, dealing with extravagance when money is plenty, not alone is a delight to lovers of good pictures but is pertinent to the present day mode of living.

As Madge Hillyer Miss Joyce, through extravagance, so well learns the misery of poverty that when wealth comes again she is not capable of enjoying it. The story is new—up to the minute.

STRAND

"House of Telling Bell" If you are tired of the "ordinary run" of motion pictures, if you thirst for some new twist and some new settings for your photoplay pleasure, don't fail to visit the Strand Theater today. "The House of Telling Bell" is the offering and the distinctiveness of its appeal marks it as one of the few remarkable pictures.

The action of the story takes place in Louisiana, a half-forgotten spot which still shows the influence of the early French settlers. The story deals with a contested will, in the struggle for possession of the House of the Telling Bell, honor and up-to-date intelligence clashes with ignorance and the superstition centers upon a beautiful young girl whose honor and future depends upon the issue. The struggle is ended by a surprise climax which is most amazing, yet logical and within bounds of reason. Don't miss seeing it. It is showing today and tomorrow.

"45 Minutes From Broadway" In "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," George M. Cohan's famous Broadway success, which is showing at the Colonial, Charles Ray in the title role is at his very best. Countless theatre-goers will remember with pleasure this characterization of an ex-pugilist from the Bowery—Kid Burns, by name. Victor Moore first created the part in 1904 and eight years later, George M. Cohan, the author of the play assumed it in a big revival of the show.

But Mr. Ray has given it his own interpretation and from all accounts it is the best the old play has yet had. George M. Cohan has expressed his gratification over the fact that Ray is the interpreter of his old role, in the picture of "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" and considers him the ideal man to give the proper touches to this lovable character.

The younger brother had much difficulty in securing his passport, because of military age, and he is mighty happy over his success in reaching America. For the past four years, Sam has existed on a diet of black bread and potatoes, and the quantity has been insufficient to satisfy the pangs of hunger always experienced by a growing youth. Two sisters with their husbands will soon come to America, and when they arrive it is the intention of Mr. Wasserman to organize a tailoring company that will take in the men of the family.

Following a banquet of the Junior Hi-Y Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A., W. G. Cartlidge of Columbus, state boys' work secretary, gave an interesting talk to the boys, taking for his subject, "Wonderful Possibilities Either for Good or Evil." Mr. Cartlidge's talk commanded the deep interest of the youngsters. A brief talk by Mr. Wood of the high school faculty concluded the meeting. Mr. Wood took for his subject, "Y-Hi-Y or 'The Leadership of the Boys'."

WHOM WILL HARDING SELECT FOR HIS CABINET? MANY POSSIBILITIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The election of Senator Harding to the presidency naturally brings to the fore speculation on the cabinet selections he will make before he is inaugurated on March 4, next. Whether the president-elect has arrived at any decision respecting any cabinet appointment or asked any one to accept a place in his official family is not known. This is a matter which the candidate repeatedly said he would not consider seriously in advance of the election. When General Wood visited Marion shortly after the Republican convention and pledged all possible assistance to the man who defeated him for the nomination it was reported Senator Harding had asked the general to be his secretary of war in event of Republican success at the polls. Neither affirm or deny the report. The suggestion of the appointment of General Wood to the war portfolio elicited widespread approval among Republicans. The State Portfolio There has been a good deal of speculation on the possible selections for secretary of state. Those most frequently mentioned are Elihu Root and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, both of whom have served as secretary of state, and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, who, as chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, directed the framing of the League of Nations covenant. Former Senator Root is widely regarded as the "master mind" of the Republican party and there is no doubt he is one of the foremost statesmen of the world. He was the author of the Republican platform plank on the treaty and the league of nations, later somewhat revised, and he was the American representative in the conference of world justice which framed the plan for an international court of justice, an institution which many Republicans advocate as a substitute for the Wilson league.

Senator Knox is said to have no desire to resume the portfolio of foreign affairs, preferring to remain in the senate. Senator Lodge, many believe, would accept the post, which would provide an appropriate finale to his public life. The Massachusetts senator, however, is also advanced in age and might not feel equal to the onerous task. Sutherland in Cabinet Former Senator Sutherland of Utah is another man who many believe will be found in the Harding cabinet. He has been in Marion throughout the campaign advising the candidate on matters relating to the league of nations and other issues. He is known as an authority on international law as well as a lawyer of conspicuous ability.

Speculation has connected him with possible appointment as secretary of state or attorney general. Former Senator John T. Weeks of Massachusetts has been mentioned as a likely secretary of the navy. Mr. Weeks is a graduate of the Annapolis Naval academy and is an authority on naval affairs. Republican politicians, who recall how Governor Lowden withdrew his name from consideration by the national convention and threw his support to Harding, thus accomplishing the nomination.

of the Ohio senator, are of the opinion that the Illinois governor can have a place in the cabinet if he wants it. George M. Reynolds, the Chicago banker, has been mentioned as a possible choice for secretary of the treasury.

MICHIGAN-OHIO STATE GAME WILL BE CLASH OF GIANTS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 5.—It'll be a clash of giants this week when Michigan and Ohio State meet here in their seventeenth encounter. Despite the fact that Michigan last year lost its first contest to the Ohio State and the long series is popularly in the Wolverine's favor, it'll be a muss for revenge on the visitors' part. Primed for the Ohio State melee last fall, the Michiganders attribute the smashing defeat at Ann Arbor, 13 to 0, at the hands of Chie Harley and his crew, as the beginning of their slide down the conference to the bottom. Michigan made its most ignominious showing in years Ohio State, with three Big Ten games out of the way, will fight every inch of the way to turn back Michigan, for it desperately needs the contest to stay in the running for championship honors. With the melee carded as the annual home-coming game, seats, except for standing room and a few thousand unreserved places, to go on sale early this week, long since have been exhausted. With Michigan as the attraction, athletic officials here could easily sell out the new Ohio stadium, were it available.

Showing surprising strength in the contest with Illinois in which last year's Big Ten champions were hard put to win by a single point, Michigan will bring what probably is the heaviest team in the conference to Ohio State. Buckeye scouts say the Wolverines' line averages 185 pounds and the backfield about 175, or 10 pounds heavier per man than the Ohioans. It'll probably develop into a line-smashing attack versus an aerial offense. Such is the verdict of critics here. Illinois defeated Michigan through the use of the overhead game. Ohio State last fall turned the same trick because Harley and his mates were adept with the pass, while Yost's men looked pitifully weak trying to stop it.

In "Hogs" Workman, Ohio State has probably the best forward passer in the country today. Walter Camp, who saw Workman's arm at work in the Wisconsin-Ohio fray, called him "wonderful." In Pete Stinchcomb, Ohio State has almost as good an open field runner and receiver of forward passes as the matchless Harley. Workman and Stinchcomb together make a tough combination for opponents to solve.

The Buckeyes may be strengthened for the game by the return of Frank Williamson, star halfback, who has been of little use through injuries this fall. He was hurt before the Purdue game and again early in the Wisconsin contest. Yost's forces, rejuvenated after the disappointing season of 1919, and with their confidence bolstered by the showing against Illinois, are pretty confident of avenging their last year's defeat at Ohio's hands. It is believed here. Ohio State, on the other hand, is leaving no stone unturned to send the Yost men home with the small end of the score. All Ohio is on edge for the battle.

Michigan has two good kickers in Jack Dunn, quarterback, and Steketee, all-American fullback of 1918. Dunn also is a good drop kicker. Steketee so far has played second fiddle to Nelson, a new man who was a member of the Eighty-ninth Division eleven that won the A. E. F. championship in 1918. Yost has a 190 pound halfback in Cohen, while Perrin, who alternates at left half with him, is compared with "Bullet" Maubetsch, Michigan's great back of a few years ago. Angus Goetz, who captured last fall's U. of M. team, and a tackle, again is skipper of the Wolverines. Hugh Wilson, lightest man on the Michigan line, who plays right guard, weighs 175 pounds. Vick, last year's fullback has been shifted to center. Three thousand seats have been reserved for Michigan rooters. The probable line-ups:

ELYRIA BATTLES AT BELLEVUE SATURDAY

Coach Stephens Wants Team to Make Credit- able Showing in His Home City

The Elyria High football squad is all set for its trip to Bellevue tomorrow. Coach Stephens is particularly anxious to have the team make a creditable showing in his home town and is working the team to the limit for the game. The squad will be considerably weakened by the absence of several of the regulars, due to injuries of one kind and another. Several of the regulars will not play unless absolutely necessary.

See Easy Victory
The local team ought to win easily.

from Bellevue. The Bellevue team has had a very discouraging season and up to date has not won a single league game. On the other hand the Elyria aggregation is just beginning to show its real strength. Since losing to the Fremont eleven the locals have defeated Norwalk 42 to 8, Wellington 24 to 6 and Sandusky 21 to 0. The Elyria team has shown considerable scoring ability and Bellevue will be compelled to show a real defense if the local team is held to a low score. On the other hand over-confidence has never been a virtue in any line of sport. Coach Stephens when acquiring the fundamentals of his vast superstructure of knowledge at the Bellevue High School, played football under the tutelage of the present Bellevue Coach. Both as a great deal of respect for the ability of his former teacher in moulding football teams and is warning the Elyria team against over-confidence. In proof of this he cites the incident of Lorain's defeat last year which tumbled the Lorain eleven from the top of the league. Stephens can't control absolutely all that the boys may think about the Bellevue game, but in practice the boys are certain they are preparing for the hardest game of the year.

Squads Leave Early
Besides the regular football squad a large delegation of students are planning to accompany the team. On account of the poor railroad connections it will be necessary for the squad to leave on the 7:20 o'clock train. If the weather is fine "good cheer" will drive "dull care" away and the group will never have a chance to wish the trip were shorter. After practice Friday evening Coach Stephens announced that the following players would make the trip: Hauserman, Klady, Schuster, W. Smith, Deal, Kofsky, Braden, Oldfield, Hicks, Penfound, Danglefield, Krugman, Guthman, Tink, Hurst, Reynolds, Jones, R. Smith and Bolamer.

LORAIN USES SECOND TEAM IN GAME WITH NORWALK HI TOMORROW

LORAIN, Nov. 5.—Lorain high will use its entire second string men in the game with Norwalk here tomorrow, reserving the first team for the crucial battle with Elyria at Elyria, Nov. 13.
